Explanatory Notes to your report.

Unique certificate ID: This is the unique id of the report. This can be validated via CheckMEND by putting the number into the site at the URL supplied. This is the number to supply if you are selling goods on eBay, Craig's list or anywhere else online as it means the buyer can view the certificate easily.

Report created on: The Date the check was done.

Your search criteria were: This shows the information you entered in the search boxes.

Manufacturer information: : In a lot of cases we are able to validate the manufacturer and model of the item FROM the serial number you enter. This means that you can be assured that the serial number is genuine and has not been altered or tampered with since manufacture. If we do not have this information we do not display anything on the report.

Ever blocked: This relates only to mobile phones using the GSM networks. If we have been told that a GSM network or networks worldwide have EVER blocked a phone from working on their network it will be shown here. If a phone has been blocked during its lifetime, this may affect your decision as to whether you wish to purchase it.

Currently blocked: This shows the current blocked status of a GSM phone worldwide. If we know a phone is currently blocked anywhere in the world it will be shown here. This is important because you want to know if a phone may stop working as soon as you take it abroad. Being blocked may also impact on the price you are willing to pay for the phone. Phones shown in the "Ever Blocked" category but not "Currently Blocked" MAY still be blocked on some networks as the networks are not compelled to unblock them depending on the reason for the unblock. Any phone that has been blocked historically should be carefully checked for proper functioning.

Lost: If we have a record of an item with the serial number you entered being reported lost, it will be noted here.

Stolen: If we have a record of an item with the serial number you entered being reported as stolen, it will be noted here.

Insurance claims: If we have a record of an item with the serial number you entered being subject to an insurance claim, it will show here. This is important as this may lead to an ownership dispute between the seller and the insurance company.

Possible counterfeit: If we have intelligence information which leads us to believe the serial number you have entered is used in counterfeit goods it will show here.

Possible clone: If we have intelligence information which leads us to believe the serial number you have entered is used in cloned goods it will show here.

Owners: If we have information that this item has had previous owners we will indicate it here. This is important as many items sold as new are in fact returns which have been repackaged and this may be relevant to you when buying an item.

Recycled: If an item is shown as recycled it means that it has passed through the hands of a recycler or a refurbisher and is not a new product.

Contract status: A green result indicates that CheckMEND does not have any record indicating that this handset is still under contract with a network or a record that indicates the handset has been sold as a Pay As You Go phone. An amber result indicates that we believe it has been under contract and may still be at the time of checking. If buying the phone we would encourage you to ask the seller to confirm that it is out of contract.

Warranty: The green tick indicates that we have no information about any repairs made to this item under warranty.
